GLOC 2026

The second edition of the IAF Global Space Conference on Climate Change (GLOC 2026) will be held in Kigali, Rwanda on 2 – 4 June 2026. Organized by the International Astronautical Federation (IAF) and hosted by its member the Rwanda Space Agency (RSA), both the IAF and RSA are committed to contribute to the global efforts to better understand and battle climate change through the use of space-based services and applications. The conference will facilitate discussions on a wide range of programmatic, technical, and policy issues related to climate change, promoting collaboration, tackling challenges, sharing insights, and paving the way for future cooperation among stakeholders engaged in climate resilience. Additionally, the second edition of GLOC will present a status update since GLOC 2023, evaluating our progress, showcasing advancements, and outlining the outlook for our initiatives.

GLOC 2026 with the theme “Uniting Space and Earth for Climate Resilience” will be addressing various topics of interest in relation to space and climate change with a specific focus on:

- Climate Adaptation and Resilience
- Green House Gas Monitoring and Impact Assessment
- Big Data, AI, ML, Digital Innovations, and Green Energy Solutions
- Service Development and Data Access
- Disasters and Emergency Management
- Good Governance, Climate Policy, and Sustainable Development Goals
- Technology and Innovation
- Economy, Finance and Investments for Climate Goals
- Outreach, Education, Community Training, and Knowledge Sharing/International Collaboration

The conference will bring together the international community, including senior representatives of the major space agencies, industries, governments, policy makers, academia and NGOs, as well as representatives of non-space sectors involved in the climate change debate. These leaders in the field will converge in Kigali, Rwanda to present results, exchange ideas, debate roadmaps, and discuss the future opportunities provided by space activities to contribute to the global climate change mitigation efforts.

Conference Venue

The Global Space Conference on Climate Change (GLOC 2026) will be held at the Kigali Convention Centre (KCC). Located in the heart of Kigali, KCC is an architectural masterpiece inspired by the traditional Rwandan King's Palace, with its dome design symbolizing unity. The venue features a large auditorium, flexible meeting rooms, and exhibition spaces, making it perfect for international events. It is also close to Kigali International Airport, top hotels, and many city attractions. Other international events hosted at KCC: FIA award giving ceremony in 2024, FIFA General Assembly in 2023, Women Deliver in 2023, CHOGM in 2022, to name a few.

About IAF and RSA

Organizer

INTERNATIONAL
ASTRONAUTICAL
FEDERATION

INTERNATIONAL ASTRONAUTICAL FEDERATION (IAF)

Founded in 1951, the International Astronautical Federation (IAF) is the world's leading space advocacy body with 604 members in 82 countries, including all leading space agencies, industries, research institutions, universities, societies, associations, institutes and museums worldwide.

Following its motto "Connecting @ll Space People" and its vision of "A space-faring world cooperating for the benefit of humanity", the Federation advances knowledge about space, supporting the development and application of space assets by promoting global cooperation. As organizer of the annual International Astronautical Congress (IAC) – world's premier global space event – and other thematic events, the IAF actively encourages the development of space activities for peaceful purposes and supports the dissemination of scientific and technical information related to space.

Host

RWANDA SPACE AGENCY (RSA)

Rwanda Space Agency (RSA) was established in 2020 with the mission to develop Rwanda's space sector towards socio-economic development, using space-based technologies and applications. RSA's mandate is to coordinate all space activities in the country, to develop a globally competitive space ecosystem, as well as foster entrepreneurial and industrial development. In order to enable the creation of globally competitive products for local consumption and export markets, RSA is keen to partner with industry leaders, research and innovation institutions and create strong cooperations at a regional and international level.
